

SPEND AUTHORIZATIONS

- What is a spend authorization?
 - A spend authorization is an estimate of the cost of your travel.
- Do I need a spend authorization for all travel?
 - Yes, you need a spend authorization for all travel.
- Can I make a charge for my travel before the spend authorization has been fully approved?
 - No purchases, by the traveler or University, can be incurred until the spend authorization has been fully approved.
- What kind of back up is needed?
 - First, you need something that explains why you are traveling. This could be a meeting or conference agenda or overview.
 - A “PDF” of your internet search of hotels; airfares, parking cost etc. are great back-up for estimated costs.
 - Reservation confirmations for hotels, rental cars, shuttle services. As long as no charges have been incurred.
 - MapQuest/Google Map for mileage.
- Can I use any rental car agency?
 - No, the State of Florida contract is with Avis/Budget.

EXPENSE REPORT

- What is an expense report?
 - An expense report has multiple functions.
 - It is a reimbursement for travel.
 - It is a reimbursement for out-of-pocket expenses.
 - It is the way you reconcile expense card charges (travel & non-travel)
- Is a spend authorization required for all expense reports?
 - No, only overnight travel and monthly vehicle mileage require spend authorizations.

- What is per diem?
 - Per diem is an allowance for certain expenses – a specific pre-set amount of money an organization gives an employee to cover daily expenses when traveling for work.

- Can I be reimbursed for gas?
 - Maybe. Florida Polytechnic University only reimburses gas for rental cars and university vehicles. Mileage incurred while using your personal vehicle is reimbursed at a per-diem $0.445 per mile rate.
